Womenshealth Template: Blog (and Spotlights, News)

1. Blog listing elements
2. Spotlight listing elements (differences in styling and which fields are shown)

2. Mobile wireframes: <http://l7i1dz.axshare.com/> [11/14]
3. Annotated (internal) wireframes: [http://kai4lh.axshare.com/#g=1&p=blog - landing\_page](http://kai4lh.axshare.com/#g=1&p=blog - landing_page) [10/26]
4. Client-facing wireframes: [http://vhx7xt.axshare.com/#g=1&p=blog - landing\_page&fn=0](http://vhx7xt.axshare.com/#g=1&p=blog - landing_page&fn=0) [10/26]

Timing/Status

- Revised wireframes complete and approved by client. [10/25]

Functionality Decisions

1. Spotlight page will need category listing at bottom (discrepant from 11/04 mock-ups) [Internal, 11/11]
2. Spotlight is being further integrated into blog section: No separate Latest Spotlight bucket; Spotlight becomes blog category. [Internal, 11/11]
3. "Author" field on back-end. [Internal, 9/23]
4. Need to account for multiple authors. [Internal, 9/23]
5. Categories selected within a checklist. Spotlight included among categories. [Internal, 9/23]
6. Author field of "Office on Women's Health" for Spotlights. [Internal, 9/23]
7. Spotlights will be moving out of interview format, but old Spotlights need to be accounted for (using Q&A accordion). [Internal, 9/23]
8. Spotlights are treated like blog posts for purposes of main landing/listing. Spotlight will be visually distinct from other categories on left nav and Spotlight entries receive unique styling (no author listed, month rather than day for date, etc). [Internal, 9/29]
9. Masthead reads "Office on Women's Health Blog". [Internal, 10/14]
10. Left nav order: Blog + categories, Spotlight, Highlights. Remove RSS. [Internal, 10/14]
11. "Women's health highlights" to be renamed "Announcements". [Client, 10/21]

12. Spotlight Masthead does not need to be treated the same as IA lite. It's a different content type so it can be built differently. [Internal, 10/26]
13. Spotlight: the bio will be at the bottom, similar to the blog post. But it will say Spotlight on FIRST NAME LAST NAME in the subhead. [Internal, 10/26]
14. Spotlight: on mobile, masthead font size will be the same as the body text (not larger like on Health Content Area masthead). [Internal, 10/26]

Content Decisions

1. Need follow-up with Hager Sharp to discuss renaming Spotlight vs. Incredible Women categories. [Internal, 11/11]

Design/Layout Decisions

2. Spotlight bucket removed from landing page. Spotlights becoming a category of blog, rather than treated as separate content type. [Internal, 11/11]
3. Design preference is to have Spotlight images on the left (pending review of treatment). [Internal, 10/26]
4. Homepage: Decision to remove Spotlight from the carousel slide so avoid duplication with right rail blog feed; Spotlight will follow standard blog feed, with most recent appearing first [OWH, 11/18]
5. Spotlights category will be called "Interviews and Spotlights" and combine spotlights, incredible women [OWH mtg, 1/13/17]

Unanswered Questions

1. Consider adjusting teaser length for landing/listing pages. [Internal, 10/14]
